Exits a key race as the runner-up and 4th-place finishers graduated next out with 60-61 Beyers taking AQU-MSW and 40K maiden claiming graduations; projects to be a major presence hoping for a scenario where she sits right off the pace then makes 1st run on the closers; Franco stays and is having a superb 2026.

CLOSER LOOK: Cross entered in a 150K stakes on Saturday going a mile on the grass but this spot isn't that much easier with main difference being the distance; Florida invader will be as welcomed as a Miami Dolphin fan when playing the Jets; a stalking trip off an average pace isn't half bad but what if this guy digs a sprint? his distance Tomlinson of 403 hints at sprint ability; team Casse are good across the board but this horse has yet to actually win on the green; if this pace was quicker we would like a little more so fringes it is.

This colt certainly likes a turf sprint as that is all he has tried to date; he comes in fresh which will sharpen his speed; he is cross entered in the same race as the rail horse and we think this is the better spot; others have better figs but that just t helps the price; could this colt find the front end and prove troublesome to run down? a big yes; team Ward aer 24% off a long layoff and 28% with first Lasix; just lots to like.

Didn't get much play off the layoff when sent off at 6-1 and then lost his rider; that won't hurt today though; this guy can pop a Beyer in the mid 80's but isn't consistent doing so; a stalking trip like many in here is no help either; let's move on.

Hasn't tried the green in a while as his last turf race has fallen off current pp's; with that said, this guy looks equally adept on the dirt or turf; we like how he puts three races together as we know he feeling good; a stalking trip like many is no real help but it isn't a deal breaker either; a pair of recent works is just right so this guy is in the mix at what might be a decent price.

Lost by a head when last seen here and it was going this distance on this lawn; GP return tries are just fine while figs just figure; this guy will be more off the pace than some but that won't hurt any even if today's pace is average; a top shelf barn calls the shots and we like Davis up even if only 4% for this barn locally; using.

She stood-up fairly well for a while in only prior grass test and that in a spot where those racing 1-2-3 early ended up 10-9-6 respectively; lone prep wasn't much of one but she is a 3yo prone to sudden improvement; dam was rather brilliant and a sib b nkd $629K; solid gate drill and the removal of blinkers may bring this one to life.

Not sure if anybody learned anything from the blinkers experiment last fall as most of the other lines were very similar; she DID show that she can stand-up on the lawn but still have to wonder whether she wants to go this far; missed one workout since the start of February and may well be fit enough to offer up a much improved showing.

Like her early foot and now she's going to add distance and try to get brave out there; latest turf figure was earned during Nov. of 2yo season and thus she has a right to be considerably better nearly 6 months later; she did hold on to beat 9 and then 8 foes in last couple of starts so the parachute doesn't inflate completely behind her; would be more enticing if we knew she could pass foes when it counts.

Here's another who has stayed in action on sod during the winter and she may appreciate the return to NY-bred company; observe that she found the 60 Beyer plateau upon returning from a long rest when a mere summer 3yo and then envision the CHANCE that so mething better could come off the deck with more maturity and some recent racing; winner of last returned to boost her Beyer by 2 points in a Lrl turf Alw affair; would be more drawn to this gal if she showed more late punch but still seems an exotics pl ayer.

This is another FIVE-year-old maiden and it doesn't seem likely that she has any further improvement in her; been a long wait to maintain that steady infield diet but this one has given some of her best efforts off the long layoff; has enough speed to clear the wide draw and perhaps she is best used as the top of exacta hedge bets.

Here's another who awaited the return of local turf racing and she too is dropping from the SpWt ranks for this tilt; decent figures earned in the fall and with added maturity this one can be expected to offer a serious run if she doesn't fall victim to the wide draw or to a slow early tempo; morning moves in good order for Morley charge who has plenty going for her; use.

Have the feeling this gal does whatever it takes to remain one-paced all the way around; today's wide draw, if she gets in, will only serve to bring a wide run that will take away from her limited effort; what if the foes in those SpWt affairs were steady ily too good? think she can muster something potentially better in this her 2nd start for a claiming tag?; she too has a right to additional improvement with maturity and 3 of past 4 figures earned on FIRM turf were formidable to this kind (she was used up on the lead in the other); definitely has a say if gets in. -George Cottrell
