Been knocking on the door; yes, last 3 came on TP synthetic but his debut came on LRC dirt last summer so the footing might not be an issue; what might be an issue is the level as all his work so far has come for a tag but it's encouraging that off the claim they bring him back where they can't lose him to another claim; both sibs are winners including Maya D (19-2-6-6, $30K), dam had 1 SP.

Lone dull run came when he returned from a 4-months hiatus; after that he bounced forward to be a good 2nd at this trip at AQU; those came for a tag but he wasn't risked for a claim in any of his last 3 and those were some decent foes so while on paper it might appear a class hike competition-wise that isn't necessarily the case; worked well April 12 and it's interesting they shipped here; after all, they run maiden races in NY, don't they?; more than a few positives, though his lack of speed sometimes leaves him with work to do turning for home.

Form has improved some in recent months, but was that a function of maturity and experience, the addition of Lasix or the move to TP synthetic?; maybe a bit of each; the bad news is the synthetic aspect no longer applies; at least handled dirt decently to start his career so you can just toss him based on the footing change; and cutting back to sprinting might help, too; 7 of 9 sibs are winners including Dream Dancing (18-4-3-1, $483K, 2 SWs including 1 G1, 1 G3, 3 G3 SPs). -Michael Hammersly

The numbers say yes exiting a best-last-race Beyer while 3-back is the field's-best speed figure; the added yardage coming off the longest layoff of career is the concern to back on top but you have the sizzling Irad Ortiz Jr back for this as she's been working bullets in the a.m. stretching out to her longest ever; rallied in her lone turf start like 1M and 1-8 would be a good idea.
