Gelding hasn't really given his all when fresh in the past although he'd be right there if able to reproduce last year's form; there is a reason why he's in for an $8K tag today and he hasn't exactly been turning clockers' heads in the mornings.

Just a single win from past 23 chances and that one came by a head; his better efforts in 2023 were on Tapeta footing at GG; best performance to date when fresh was 2nd of 5 after a 90-day rest BUT he just might have a strong say up front in this dash.

He topped some shaky critters in the NZL ranks in AZ last out (one of them had lost 36 straight since lone win, in 2020); should get some attention based on his early foot in this small cast and certainly doesn't need the early lead to be competitive; ba rn 2-for-7 in 1st-off-claim scenarios; needs a pace break.

Last-out runner-up is 16-for-32 lifetime and hasn't finished worse than 2nd since 2020; the 2-back runner-up is of the 40 Beyer variety and that suggests that this one may have her hooves full with the best of this lot; still expecting this well-traveled miss to give solid account of herself.

Third dart; There isn't too much speed in here and this gal's lack of early foot is likely to harm her more at this venue than was the case at GG; fact she finished within earshot at a mile 2-back puts her square in the conversation vs. this lot; class a djustment for this is challenging to fully measure.

Aply named miss seems a suitable match to her barn though she's another seemingly challenged in the Beyer department; not sure whether that was true speed we saw last time but at any rate she beat 2 of 4 foes to the early punch in a spot likely well o ver her head.

Fourth dart; Has done her best stuff in New Mexico and is certainly a well-traveled lass BUT she's a FIVE-year-old maiden who has yet to even work over the local strip; how difficult would it BE to find the trifecta in here? -George Cottrell
