Pressed pace on own courage first time for top connections, steadied going into the turn when crossed, kept under a hold behind rivals, found room along the rail on entering the lane and flattened out. Appears to have his work cut out tonight, will be hard pressed to get the lead against faster rivals, and hasn't shown the ability to pass horses in the lane.

Has failed to get out of the gates cleanly over this oval, did show signs of life late when finishing with some energy. Showed the ability to stay close when getting away cleanly across town. Gets away from the outside posts in here and could pull off a surprise effort.

Almost pulled it off last out in the common May 5th race. Kept under a snug hold off the pace on the backstretch, allowed to run on the turn and advanced, made a menacing three wide move into the lane, looked home free until flattening out late and getti ng nailed. Should get a similar trip tonight and rider stays, could get up in here with a better timed rally.

Improving gelding had a couple things going against him in his last start. Had the rail on a wet surface, came back in seven days and first time stretched out in distance. Connections like to participate in these challenge races, so most likely has been pointing to this since last start. The last of the Arrossa trio, has been his own worst enemy in last two starts. 3yo gelding has loads of talent. In April 27th work, ducked in at the start, and finished well under a hand ride in 12.2. Top rider will have to be mindful of his tendency to come in at the start, if wanting to compete against these.

Pricey gelding has yet to take a big step forward in sophomore campaign. Took the blinkers off two back and ran a commendable race against multiple time futurity winner Political Rivalry. Ran a midpack race throughout in final. Does get the luxury of bre akng outside of ducking in rival MV Royal Pappasito. Should get a clean trip in here and could prove tough.

Is one that has shown the ability to get out well, just has not shown the finish needed to get the win. Connections thought a shorter distance suited her last time, things didn't work out after coming away a step slow, and pushed out at the start. Gets r ider who has gotten the most out of her, drops back to lower level, stretches out but will need to find a better finish to come out on top here.

Respectable effort last time, bit antsy in the gate for her second career start, got away fairly well and more importantly kept on gamely to the wire into a 9.96 final eighth. Bobbled a bit and brushed with rival in May 7th work, against 2yo maiden winne r Terra Fina, and kept on to the wire in a solid for the level 12.30. Has the outside post again tonight. Had a rough go of things in debut. He got away slow, quickly lost his path, and ran in a green manner to the wire while under a hold. Showed the ability to get out of the gate in prior April 24th solo work. In addition to a clean start, will need to find a better finish to compete against these.

Won well in an open 20k last time. If you throw out all the rail drawing efforts, has been a model of consistency. Unfortunately those figures aren't fast enough to get it done in here. Winning rider goes to stablemate, has the ability to get a share, but will need to take a sizeable step up to compete for the top spot.

Ran back to his maiden stakes trial victory in last out. Jockey/Trainer combo has won many races together, and rider enjoys the outside post.Has much upside and will need to progress some more in order to beat this overnight stakes quality allowance field tonight. -George Duarte
