CLOSER LOOK: Best race of his career, a big win, came on this track off a layoff very much like he does now; it came in a stakes, too; that said, it came routing and now he's asked to sprint, something he hasn't done since the fall of 2022; as noted, at least he's proven fresh and Arroyo, who was up for that aforementioned big win here last June, climbs aboard; still, he's facing toughies, off a layoff while going a distance he hasn't gone in a long, long time.

Blossomed here last summer with 2 big wins over this track; they saw fit to claim him out of his last big win here last Sept. 9; trouble is, he hasn't been seen since and that's disconcerting; let's face it, you don't claim a horse just to take up stall space; the good news is he comes back with no tag attached, that they feel good enough about him to bring him back in a stakes and he's been working super at PRX; still, he's facing tougher than he's used to seeing, hasn't run in a long time and the last time he came off a layoff he ran poorly.

Well beaten by the 2 highweights and favorites Speaking and No Cents in a sprint stakes here last summer; then ran better to be 2nd in a route stakes here Sept. 4; however, then came 3 months off, 2 dull runs at PRX and then another 4 1/2 months off; so, he must deal with a layoff and some tough foes; at least they feel good enough to bring him back in a spot like this and he's working well and if able to get back to his best form he could have a say, though off that pattern coming into this that's no small 'if', is it?

A sharp 2nd in this last year so he's got the necessary game; that said, the guy who beat him (Speaking) is lined up against him again here; been busy in Maryland since just before Christmas and has been handling himself well; in fact, Beyerwise you can make a case he's in the best form of his life; now returns to what he might consider his favorite place, handles the trip and is back in vs. state-breds only, all of which adds up to him as a big player.

Opened up big early vs. $25KB foes at PRX April 15 but he apparently used too much fuel too soon and came up empty in the lane; that's not the first time he's done that and it's evident his speed is his primary asset; figures to win it again early here, but there's other speed to deal with, as noted there's a stamina question and the last time he ran against this caliber here last summer he faded to end up last of 9 at 54-1, and on paper it doesn't look as though he's improved significantly since.

Won smartly here last summer and continued good form at PEN from the fall into this year; alas, the pattern coming into this is a bit distressing as he ran 2 poor races at PEN in the winter, vs. lesser, and now has been gone a couple months since, return ing vs. better; at least most of his best work has come here, but it's worth noting, too, his 2 wins over winners both came routing as well as vs. lesser than these.

Your defending champ; that said, he didn't beat No Cents by much when at even weights, whereas this year this guy has to give No Cents a smidge of poundage; hasn't run since 2 big SWs on this track at this trip vs. similar so there's a long layoff to ponder and note in 2022 he came off a layoff in this very race to run 5th; at least those last 2 big wins came off a freshening so he can fire fresh; well drawn outside where he can either go or stalk; at least you know he loves it here; brother Sea Streak just won the Long Branch here last week. -Michael Hammersly

The show finisher Beyered 76 in a next-out BEL-40K-maiden claiming victory; stretches out beyond 6F for the 1st time; is a sibling to route winner Point Well Taken (90K overall); was screaming out for more yardage and gets it here; good sign that Paco Lopez who began the meet hot is here; the long layoff is the biggest concern to back on top; using in the exotics.

Passed runners nicely 1st-time out and gets an additional half furlong for this which adds to the appeal stretching out to longest-distance test ever; 2nd-time out and 2nd-time Long are both potential-improvement angles; saves ground then makes 1 run; the one to beat.
